Welcome to the 10th annual Nuovo Cinema Italiano Film Festival, a four-day festival that showcases this year's most artistically important and beloved Italian movies. With 12 screenings of feature films and several special public and student events, Nuovo Cinema Italiano Film Festival is the major Italian culture event of the region.

Five Italian directors and a young actor are our guests this year. You will have a chance to meet Matteo Bini, director of I, Harlequin; Matteo Gaudio, director of An Almost Perfect Town; Piero Messina, director of The Wait; Alessandro Piva, director of The Prince of Crime; Maria Sole Tognazzi, director of Me, Myself and Her; and actor Rimau Grillo Ritzberger, who stars in One Kiss. We think you will be thrilled with these films, Rimau's performance, and the general quality of today's Italian cinema.

We are honored this year to welcome Manlio Castagna to the festival. Manlio is deputy director of the prestigious Giffoni Film Festival, perhaps the most important cinema event for children and teenagers in the world. Dr. Mary Ann Carolan also is with us this year. Mary Ann will serve as guest a moderator and scholar. We are especially thrilled to host Italian Consul General to the United States, Gloria Maria Bellelli. In her position Consul General Bellelli helps organize large-scale Italian cultural events and commercial activities throughout the southeast and beyond.

Nuovo Cinema Italiano Film Festival is fortunate to receive generous support from the College of Charleston, international, national and local businesses and organizations, private foundations and our many members. Our donors make the festival possible and we are most grateful. Our biggest thanks are reserved for you, our audience, who have supported us for 10 wonderful years. Grazie mille.

Buon divertimento!

Length: 100 minutes
Genre: Francesco Scianna, Valentina Lodovini, Francesco Di Leva, Carmine Recano
Language: Italian with English subtitles

The Prince of Crime is the story of a handsome and sometimes charming Neapolitan crime boss, Marcello Cavani, aka "Alain Delon." When Alain Delon was still Marcello, his family was in a desperate situation, and it was the Camorra, not the state, that helped. The Camorra saved his family and, in Naples, these debts must be repaid.

Director Alessandro Piva is a special guest of the festival.

OCTOBER 8 | 05:00 PM

PALIO (2015)

Director: Cosima Spender
Length: 91 minutes
Cast: Gigi Bruscellini, Giovanni Atzeni
Genre: Documentary
Language: Italian with English subtitles

The Palio, the oldest horse race in the world, takes place twice a year in Siena. Fans claim that the jockeys are the most daring riders in the world, while critics claim they are utterly mad. Some admit it is more a game than a race, and a corrupt one at that, as jockeys work the system in return for bribes paid by those maneuvering to get the best start. In all of this is a duel between a legendary but manipulative rider, Gigi Bruscellini, and Giovanni Atzeni, a passionate young rider.

OCTOBER 9 | 2:30 PM

IO, ARLECCHINO I, Harlequin (2015)
